A 14 week rotating program of social skills based on portions of Aggression Replacement Training (best practices, Barry Glick, Ph.D.) and Social Skills Training (Gilbert Botvin, Ph.D. best practices), and Social Skills Training for Aspergers Syndrome, (Jed Baker, Ph.D.). These skills will be reinforced with audio and video feedback to enhance and improve the rehearsals necessary to impact the client.

Although significant gains may be achieved during individual sessions, social skills are often best learned in a group. We are offering these groups for youth ages 13-19. This is not an anger management group which we offer separately.

The participants are highly encouraged to attend all the sessions since many skills depend on the previous learning. Sporadic attendance may be less effective.

Assisting at-risk youth and their parents acquire the skills they lack to maintain emotionally healthy, self controlling and productive lives.
